PROFILE

Designer who builds what he draws: interfaces, browser games and interactive art. I pair a strong visual eye (pixel art, layout, typography, color) with hands-on building, directing AI coding tools from a clear brief and reviewing every pass. My background is fifteen years of high-trust, people-facing work: escalated fraud cases at Apple and a coaching business with more than a hundred clients. I care about accuracy over speed, plain language and the small details that make something feel right.

SELECTED PROJECTS

Mousecapades — 2026 · Play · Case study

SNES-style pixel-art platformer for the browser. Directed the character art; designed the level, palette and movement feel; built a live tuning panel to set every physics value by hand; playable on keyboard, gamepad and touch.

VibePaint — 2026 · Case study

Layered painting app. Interface design focused on keeping the canvas dominant: slim tool rail, floating layers panel, shortcuts surfaced in tooltips.

VibeSync — 2026 · Case study

Microphone-reactive generative visuals with a privacy-first permission flow and a single reactivity control across three visual modes.

Jackie (working title) — In progress

PS1–style space-trucking action RPG in Godot: low-poly models in Blender, character design, and an AI-assisted city-pop and synthwave soundtrack.
